Excisions: Excisions Recommended But Not Made

Reasons for excisions:

An excision is necessary to remove an episode which explicitly depicts a sexual relationship between a brother and sister, and presents incest as enjoyable and satisfying.

Summary of reasons
for classification:

The DVD Cool Devices Series is classified as:
Objectionable.

Cool Devices Series is a collection of Japanese animated sexually explicit material. This material includes two episodes, each of which has a running time of around 26 minutes, and two trailers. The Classification Office required an excision to the DVD to remove one of the episodes, which explicitly depicts a sexual relationship between a brother and sister, and presents incest as enjoyable and satisfying. The publication promotes and encourages criminal acts, in the form of incest. The distributor of the publication declined to make the excision and so the publication is classified as objectionable.

The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act (1990) on the application of the classification criteria under the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993. The classification of objectionable interferes with adults' freedom of expression as set out in the Bill of Rights. However, this right needs to be balanced against the likely injury to the public good from making available a publication that promotes criminal activity. The classification of objectionable reflects the concerns of New Zealand's democratic society, as set out by Parliament in the FVPC Act, that such publications should not be available. This is the minimum restriction that can be applied to prevent injury to the public good.
